The Ivan D Margary Memorial Conferences

ROMAN ROADS: PAST, PRESENT & FUTURE RESEARCH

Burn Hall Hotel, nr. York, 12th & 13th November 2016

What do you know about Roman Roads? How much is really known about them already? What questions are still to be answered and what is waiting to be discovered? The conferences will be thought provoking, challenging, informative and above all enjoyable. The two days will give you in depth information from leading researchers with ample opportunity for discussion with speakers on key topics for today.

Speakers include

Dr. David Rudling (Sussex School of Archaeology), Scott Vanderbilt, John Poulter, Dr. M. C. Bishop (University of Oxford), Dr Blaise Vyner, Mike Turpin (RRRA), Dr. Patrick Ottaway (PJO Archaeology) Graeme Erskine (University of Edinburgh), Rob Entwistle, Dr. John Peterson (University of East Anglia), James Lyall, David Fell (Northern Archaeological Associates), David Ratledge, Bryn Gethin (Warwickshire Archaeology), David Inglis (University of Sheffield), David Cockman & Nick Brook (HDAS), Mike Haken (RRRA).

Key Conference Themes

- Ivan D Margary, the Man & his Legacy
- Questioning received wisdom
- New Technology, New Approaches
- Roman Surveying & the Road Network
- Insights into Roman Roads in the North
